

Figure 14.2: In two dimensions, points representing the solution to a linear equation form a line. The point of intersection (black dot) of two lines represents the common solution (x, y) to the two linear equations.